

Hotline, Victims Of The Fire

Too many people are burning day by day wasting themselves away with their best friend, people that no one knows, people really still alive leaded to destruction with no chance.

There's a fire inside them that is burning in their heart, everybody with his pain there is no one to cure . . .

Victims of the fire, burning for desire victims of the fire, oh, oh
Victims of the fire, burning for desire
victims of the fire, oh, oh, oh.

No one holds out an hand and makes you go down only the liquid friend relieves your scars.
It's like a fire that heats you sliding down tearing to pieces, fking your machine.

Penetrating you day by day slowly erasing the man you are, it will lead you to the end if you don't give up . . .

Victims of the fire, burning for desire
victims of the fire, oh, oh
Victims of the fire, burning for desire
victims of the fire, oh, oh. . .

I just can tell you, man, to give up the flame with your strenght and your decision nobody else, 'cause no one is a better friend than yourself you will never be a betrayer of your life.

You've got to wake up, fight to win this is a battle for your life, you have no weapon to make this war but you'll be a hero . . .

Victims of the fire, burning for desire
victims of the fire, oh, oh
Victims of the fire, burning for desire
victims of the fire, oh, oh, oh.

victims of the fire, oh, oh, oh.
