House Of Love, Shake And Crawl

Don't you frown Just go sweetly Let your senses suck the world And your fingers through my hair Shake and Crawl Through the willow There's a baby in our eyes And a second when we cry And I know no love will be here again Here again So wash my lies Fill the hollow With a legend out inside There's a system to divide And I know no love will be here again I know something's wrong I've got words and I've got song And your the call in an ice cold wind So don't you cry Just go sweetly Take an ideal to the storm Let your head and heart be one And I know no love will be here again I know no love will be here again Here again
