Howard Jones, Everlasting Love

He wasn't looking for a pretty face She wasn't searching for the latest style He didn't want someone who walked straight off the TV She needed someone with an interior smile

She wasn't looking for a cuddle in the back seat He wasn't looking for a five minute thrill She wasn't thinking of tomorrow or of next week This vacancy he meant to permanently fill

Chorus

I need an everlasting love I need a friend and a lover divine An everlasting precious love Wait for it, wait for it, give it some time

Back in the world of disposable emotion In the climate of temporary dreams He wasn't looking for a notch on his bedpost A love to push, pull and burst at the seams

Is this love worth waiting for Something special, something pure

Is this love worth waiting for Bitterness will die for sure Something special, something pure Is this love worth waiting for
