

Howie Day, Come Lay Down

come lay down at the edge come lay down at the broken edge come lay down at the feet of angels eyeing you in a northern sky come lay down at the end come lay down where the times suspended come lay down and and hear the voices calling you from a northern sky follow me and don't look down you're alright

come with me, forget you're high it's alright in all your eyes are open and singing your eyes are open and not quite breathing

your eyes are open
you're seeing things that i can't see as hard as i try

follow me and don't look down
you're alright
come with me and forget you're high it's alright
and alright.

don't look down
keep your eyes off the ground so afraid
these days will fall like tears down your face

follow me and don't look down
you're alright
come with me forget your high
it's alright
and alright
follow me don't look down
you're alright
come with me forget you're high
it's alright, alright