

Hubert Kah, The Picture

Don't know how I'm gonna tell you this
Now I'm feeling so confused
And I know you'll be mad
If you could look at my eyes

Back at home where I belong
Back at home it seemed so wrong
To be cheated again
My fair lady loves me so well
She'll forgive me

When she took a look in my eyes
She saw a picture of you
Maybe you were her in disguise
And I was never untrue

Surely you will understand
I must take my life in hand
And forget all of it
You don't need me hangin around
Love is waiting

When she took a look in my eyes
She saw a picture of you
Maybe you were her in disguise
And I was never untrue

(In my eyes, in my eyes)

When she took a look in my eyes
She saw a picture of you
Maybe you were her in diguise
And I was never untrue

When she took a look in my eyes

Maybe you were her in disguise