

Huckapoo, Where You Belong

You stand apart
Alone you are
Working on your masterpiece
They laugh, they stare
No one would dare
Invite you to hang out with them

Look around, no where to go
They get you down cause you just like to know

Chorus:
Where you belong
Just looking for the place that you fit in
You're too cool, too weird, it's always something
Try hard, but you can't seem to get there
Where you belong
So what, so what if you're different
It's what you is, not what you isn't
Someday, it'll be so clear

You dress in black, head full of facts
A real encyclopedia

I'm blown away
With what, you say
I love the way you look at things

Don't take it all so hard
(Don't take it all so hard)
Seems to me, you're not so very far

Chorus
Where you belong
Just looking for the place that you fit in
You're too cool, too weird, it's always something
Try hard, but you can't seem to get there
Where you belong
So what, so what if you're different
It's what you is, not what you isn't
Someday, it will be so clear

Just got to happy within yourself
No use trying to be somebody else
Everybody just trying to find a place

Where you belong

Chorus
Where you belong
Just looking for the place that you fit in
You're too cool, too weird, it's always something
Try hard, but you can't seem to get there
Where you belong
So what, so what if you're different
It's what you is, not what you isn't
Someday, it will be so clear

Where you belong
Just looking for the place that you fit in
You're too cool, you're too weird, it's always something
Try hard, but you can't seem to get there
(Can't seem to get there)
Where you belong
So what, so what if you're different

It's what you is, not what you isn't
(Not what you isn't)
So clear

Where you belong
Someday, it will be so clear
