

Huffamoose, Snapshot Family

Soulmate before you close the blinds
Look at the blue Los Angeles sky
Breathe in the palm trees floating bye
Did you ever dream you'd live a life so charmed

You need a minute

West is a state of mind we say
Friendly but never over bearing
Sold into slavery half a year ago
We opened up and it fell in

You take a minute

Snapshot family
We plaster smiles on our faces in place just in case
Snapshot family
Go ahead and grab one this is what they're there for

Cloves are the renaissance in flavor
Soaked in the finest herbs we wonder
How could it be so bad if it tastes so good
The ceiling fan begins to squeal

I need a minute

You'd love a polka dot suspender
Bats in the belfry in the blender
Swimming is religion when you're on the rocks
It opens up and you fall in

I take a minute

Snapshot family
We plaster smiles on our faces in place just in case
Snapshot family
Go ahead and grab one this is what they're there for

Life is breezy
When you're on the run

Go ahead and grab one this is what they're there for