

Hugh X. Lewis, Out Where The Ocean Meets The

Day after day year after year my heart holds a mem'ry of the day you disappeared
From this blue water bay I watched your ship fade away
Out where the ocean meets the sky
How my heart yearns for your return
Cause this lonely little island is just no place for smilin'
Not many laughs around since you've been gone
My letters all returned address unknown
I've got a sad sad feeling that something might be wrong
Someday I'm gonna go where the evening sun hangs low
Out where the ocean meets the sky
( steel )
My letters all returned...
Out where the ocean meets the sky