

Human Drama, About Michelle

Shaken by complicated thoughts
She yearns for simplicity
She works so hard only to hide

Only to hide behind her camouflage
For the curious she has no time
She'd rather stay inside

CHORUS

But once I caught a glimpse of her
Through a crystal, blue eyes saw
The hope that comes from dreams
Where we all know about Michelle

There are no pearls in her life
Only cheap imitations that
She sometimes allows herself to see as real

And for a moment or two there's a mother's love
And religion she never found
And the one who could replace both mother and God here on Earth

CHORUS

Michelle, would you notice if the walls would fall?
For lack of love, do you hate?
Do you notice as I try to chip away

CHORUS

CHORUS

CHORUS