

Hundred Inch Shadow, i don't care no matter how hard you will try there will be someone to complain no matter which way you will choose there will be one that will pretend that he would choose a different way you just can't match in every taste i know it's hard to deal with doubts about your gained skills about preferences

no matter how you try to fit
there will be someone to complain don't take to heart what someone says just try to do things your own way forget that bullshit that you've heard don't let them make you feel ashamed
i know it's hard to deal with doubts
but i don't really care
but i don't really care

no matter how hard you will try
there will be someone to complain someone who's just a jealous guy trying to make you feel ashamed don't care what your enemies say i know it's hard to deal with it just try to do your best just try to make progress and it will be ok