

Hunter, Just Control Yourself

There was never a time when it all made sense
There were always missing elements
Time and space is not in our hands
We will never completely understand

Just control yourself
The moment will pass
Just control yourself
Life is moving so fast

Walking and talking we see so much life to live
Buried inside the soul there's magic to give
Living and loving we learn some hard lessons
Moving along in the game there's confessions

Wake up tomorrow and the thoughts of yesterday
Change in form and alter your path today
Look at the big picture don't miss your cue
There's a place on the scale of life marked for you