Huntingtons, Hooray For You tell me something would you you're so mean how could you treat me like i'm nothing think it's okay, okay i was so confused and now i'm being used and you just go on thinkin' that it's okay, okay alright thought i could save it then you tricked me baby you made it sound like there was something i could do i jumped right through you lied again but you're so convincing you made it sound impossible but true hooray for you i hope in my heart to you (?) i really thought i knew you everyone knows my secrets that's not okay, okay oh you wanna tell me something but it's always something nothing never make me think that it's okay, okay alright then again you got me baby you made it seem that there was something i could do i jumped right through you got it down to a science neatly you made it sound impossible but true hooray for you