

Hurricane #1, Just Another Illusion

So you wait down at the square for the ones who say they care they'll tell you stories for boys let you play with all their toys They pin a badge on your chest now you're better than all the rest you wanted to reach her but now you're the man and you'll never see her again So you're running just to see her
but when you get there
you can't touch her
she's just another illusion and your falling looks like dancing I here you calling
it's alright
but it's just an illusion Saw the world for you one day with all the curtains pulled away every mirror was a wall every eye a crystal ball i tried to be a money machine keepin with style,
ya know what i mean?
I wanted to show you
I wanted to know just another illusion now
and you're falling looks like dancing
