

I Hate Myself, Less Than Nothing

60 watts, brighter than my future, an empty forty, fuller than my life, there must be more, sometimes i don't think so, maybe I'm right. maybe there's no such thing as a brighter side A sultry night stare at moons from rooftops, A broken engine, poisoned never dry, I pour my heart out to a god that doesn't listen, You said you'd save me. You said you'd love me always but you lied.
And i can't dry my eyes and there is nothing left inside, one day. the day. the day that i said i, my heart inside was cold so that you didn't know, so all and you, you won't love me at all, the leaves come down,
there is no sound,
and if i fall would you notice at all?
the thought of me repulses me, but you'd say you took me anyway, i am so alone on a corroded city rooftop, i saw you walking, you didn't say anything, you always told me that you'd never stop loving me, but you stopped before you started and now all i have is lies.
What am i gonna be?
Who am i gonna be?
afraid,
repressed,
And now that i feel lost, Well i wish that you had grown while i bleed all alone, the falling rain
is what is left for me We?re gonna be what's left for me
what is there to learn?
there is less than nothing, i thought you'd be. be there for me you weren't there. you weren't anywhere.
You lied right to my face you broke my fucking heart, One day, one day you tore my heart apart.
And i have nothing,
And i am nothing,
I'm piss,
I'm shit,
i am less than nothing