

Ian Matthews, Roll away the stone

She stepped out of the back door In her old brown travelling shoes She had a dream last night And