Icehouse, Too Late Now

Just give me the sign and I'll be walking out that door Don't want to remember this the way it was before As the rain falls on the ocean and the desert feels the sign We let it die here, let it slip right through our hands

It's too late now...too late to love, too late to cry So don't look back...another place, another time Too late now...to start again, to wonder why...too late now

Just give me the word, though it may be so hard to sing Just give me a reason why it had to end this way Steady holding onto nothing like a child, yeah, like a fool Though you've God, I won't forget, it's the only thing I know

It's too late now...too late to love, too late to cry So don't look back...another place, another time Too late now...to start again, to wonder why...too late now

Just give me the sign

It's too late now...too late to love, too late to cry So don't look back...another place, another time Too late now...to start again, to wonder why...too late now Too late now...(ah ah)...Too late now...(ah ah)... Don't look back...(ah ah)...Too late now...(ah ah)...
