

Icehouse, Where The River Meets The Sea

I know it isn't right, ah yeah faith has been broken and if I have to wait I will
I will be waiting

'cos I watched as the rain come down and I held it in the palm of my hand some things will never change it's just a matter of time

oh I, I believe
I will find you there
someday
and I will follow
whereever you lead
where the river meets the sea

there's got to be a way, ah yeah faith is still breathing in another place, another time I will be waiting

'cos I watched as the rain come down and it's just a matter of time oh, I believe

I will find you there
someday
castaway...just out of reach
driven by the storm
somewhere, I believe you'll always find me here
and I, I will follow
whereever you lead
where the river meets the sea

if you catch yourself some morning staring at some distant land with the wind along the shoreline disappearing into sand fighting back against the tide and slowing, sinking, losing ground, 'cos you've found yourself some answers but you still don't understand

oh I, I believe
I will find you there
someday
castaway...just out of reach
driven by the storm
somewhere, I believe
you'll always find me here
and I, I will follow
whereever you lead
where the river meets the sea