

Idaho, To Be The One

oh life

when are you truly there do you think about the world how far this time to be yourself must you go down a stream floating on the top is better and you feel just what you are what you are talking about is pure what you're talking about is pure

and what you're talking about must be the dream beyond the words it gives way and steers itself how far this time to be the one that you knew was always here won't you take the time to get it so you'll know just what you are

will hang the sun every day to melt you down
