

Idlewild, Don't Let Me Change

You wont let me change,
You dont let me change,
Tell me I can grow up,
And age will forget that Im old,

You wont let me change,
You dont let me change,
The story is already told,

As tears get mixed up with rain,
Every time I mention I mention in vain,
How do you expect to be free,
When all your politics where Written in,
The lipstick that kissed me,

You wont let me change,
You dont let me change,
Tell me I can grow up,
And age will forget that Im old,

You wont let me change,
You dont let me change,
The story is already told,

Ohh hohhohohhho000
Ohh hohhohohhho000
Ohh hohhohohhho000
Ohhohhoooh
Ohh hohhohohhho000
Ohh hohhohohhho000
Ohh hohhohohhho000

If the world keeps blowing,
In storm around us all,
All the words are frozen,
As the rain turns into snow fall,
So happy I was,
To serve blindly on the tray,
And honesty isnt poetry,
Just a truthful way to complain,

You wont let me change,
You dont let me change,
Tell me I can grow up,
And age will forget that Im old,

You wont let me change,
You dont let me change,
The story is already told,

Ohh hohhohohhho000
Ohh hohhohohhho000
Ohh hohhohohhho000
Ohh hohhohohhho000
Ohh hohhohohhho000
