Ignacy, Lullaby

you can let it go and see the world you can run along and keep it quiet hide whatever lies beneath your chest seek whatever sparks your deep desires run your fingertips along my hands gently quit while im ahead of your fire after midnight's shadows fall you're free stir me from my sleep to say goodbye godspeed, it's your road I'll keep holding on as you disappear in silence waves will come and go they'll keep moving on as I disappear in silence when the sun goes down you recall the sound our lullaby when the sun goes down we recall the sound our lullaby