

Imani Coppola, Raindrops From The Sun

Yesterday was kind of like the fourth of July
The way your face lit up the entire sky
I had to look away because it hurt my eyes
The way you hit me was a big surprise
Yesterday I really didn't know what to say
I wasn't making any sense but it felt ok
I asked you if it was my birthday
This kind of thing don't happen everyday
Hey hey hey hey hey hey
I didn't think an angel would get in my way
Yesterday I felt just like a child
A little curious a little wild
Live in the moment and never go out of style
You know it's really been a while
Hey hey hey hey hey hey
I didn't think an angel would get in my way
Excuse me won't you step aside
I ain't got no room for you in my life
I don't got the patience to love again
I don't got the guts to keep you as a friend
Be an angel and fly away
I hope you reach some heavenly place
If you come back when you're all done
Bring me some raindrops from the sun
Today I feel like i'm doing time
I didn't know it could be just like a crime
Been a while since I let you go
But time don't let regrets go
Hey hey hey hey hey hey
I didn't think an angel would get in my way
So I gotta welcome angels