

Immortal, As The Eternity Opens

In an hour of the night I hear summoning voices
And wake from my funeral sleep
In time before light in crypts of eternal deeps
Dust from my grave blew away with the winds
On a cryptic journey unto the other side
Beneath the mountains and passed beyond the gate below
Floating evil reign with fear in these sarcastic caves
Enlightened into a blacker dark for there are view in darkness
The light is searching to save the souls of mine
It is blind and cant see the gate to immortality
Harnessbells hail my soul the gate is all known
See the eternity open
The light will dissapear it was never here