

Impellitteri, The Future Is Black

in the streets of San Francisco up in Washington, D.C. there's a movement that's crossing all the lines while we speed into the future, the deceiver plants the seeds and he hides from you the truth behind the lies the blind will lead the blind into the valley of sorrow into the night they will ride if you look behind the secrets, in between the lust and greed you will see the motives coming from the heart in the shadows of division, in the cracks of human pride we only fight for what we cannot hide
the blind will lead the blind
can't you see there's a levy of tears in my eyes and I don't know if I can hold back take the trouble and pain that my two eyes have seen and I know that the future is black look at you now
look at you now, baby
the future is black
there's no turning back
[solo]
see the world spinning out of control one look in the past the future won't last can't you see there's a levy of tears in my eyes
take the trouble and pain that my two eyes have seen
and I know that the future is black
look at you now
