

Imperative Reaction, Collapse

Just let it go
It doesn't matter
It's all sustainable
Just continue to grow
As we use
Everything obtainable
It's what you wanted
Not what we need
It's what you started
And now we bleed

To a means this is the end
Line up as we pick apart
The wound we cannot mend
The structure is collapsing
Broken by the weight
Of endless demand
This is progress failing
This is hope draining away
This is excess derailing
No way to cope
With what we're giving away

Just let it fall
It never mattered
It's all replaceable
Just continue to stall
As we see
Everything is usable
It's what you wanted
Not what we need
It's what you started
And now we bleed