

In fiction, Awayke without you

As the stars in the night slowly fade
Into the light of today
Is the world that I let yet to wake?
As the fuel burns away my mistakes
So did I overreact again?
Over and over again
Did my words lose impact on you?
Somehow they do..
'Cause the best you can do is delay
The moment I walk out
You always knew how
So you can call it a test
But you'd stay
And now the four letter failure's in vain
'Cause I'm not here to cover up your mistakes
And your tears can't erase what you've said
So you should just try and get some rest
'Cause tomorrow could be just as bad
I close my eyes and whisper
"I'm through"
But somehow you knew..
The best you could do is delay
The moment I walk out
You always knew how
So as the stars in the night slowly fade
Into the light of today
From the world that I left,
From this day,
I'll wake without you..