

Indigo Girls, Problem Child

Words and Music: Amy Ray

Note: this song was reincarnated as Go

I am a problem child

I've been wild all my days

All my anger and my rage

My senses said that would lead me astray

I said, go, go, go

Raise your hands, raise your hands high

I don't take a seat, I don't stand aside

This time I don't assume anything

Five generations running fast

These things will not pass

This debtor's blood runs in my veins

I can't change anything

I said, no, no, no

Raise your hands, raise your hands high

Don't take a seat, don't stand aside

This time I don't assume anything

I said this time

Don't assume anything

Just go, go, go

So you learned to cry

But you don't know why

So you learned to laugh

But what are we laughing at

I am a problem child

I've been wild all my days

All my anger and my rage

My senses said it would lead me astray

I said, go, go, go

I said, no, no, no
