

Inhale Exhale, Knowledge = Priceless

Starting at chapter one,
You're so predictable.

The story starts in the middle, the middle of the song.
And when the job wakes with the years and sounds of laughter,
The heart is overwhelmed and simply breaks.

Hes never wanting to lay down and die.
It leaves a horrible taste inside, inside.
With all thats left to come away with, well see this to the end.
With all thats left to come away with, well see this to the end.

Now hope is in a state and everyone agrees.
With humble hearts they fall, they fall to their knees.
And I remember why I came here in the first place,
The absence of this love that killed me.

Hes never wanting to lay down and die.
It leaves a horrible taste inside, inside.
With all thats left to come away with, well see this to the end.
With all thats left to come away with, well see this to the end.

With all thats left to come away with, well see this to the end.
With all thats left to come away with, well see this to the end.

This wont be the end, this wont be the end of it all.
This wont be the end