Innerpartysystem, The way we move

She's simply just a concept baby you don't know how much I can get and when you speak you speak of sex theres nothing left I have to lose now you've been looking for something something to make a new connection with hurting a good think I've been waiting for someone someone to break the repetition with a sin dripped tounge it's in the way she moves across the floor it's in the way she keeps me waiting for for what I can`t recall now I'm standing on the edge of broken confidence and this will be the thing that makes it right She's simply just a concept, simply just a concept, simply just a concept baby come on she was simply just a concept baby you din't know how much I regret and when you think you think of sex I`v lost almost everything now you've been looking for something something to make a new connection with fixing a lost thing I've been waiting for someone someone to break the repetition with a sin dripped tounge it's in the way she moves across the floor it's in the way she keeps me waiting for for what I can`t recall now I'm standing on the edge of broken confidence and this will be the thing that makes it right we're going through the process now but will we ever settle I'm keeping up with the others we're going through the process now

but will we ever settle down I'm keeping up with the others it`s in the way she moves across the floor it`s in the way she keeps me waiting for but now I still recall when we weren't so selfish and kept on dancing tonight tonight tonight tonight and this will change everything that made us right