

Interpol, Fables

You're truly erupting too hard
That's why you're a sizeable God
And I am decidedly cold
I ain't taking the fall
I have forsaken you all
I was mistakenly chose
Now I'm mistaking my own
You can't take me

It's time we made something stable
We're in the sights of perfect danger
All is lost to the time beyond fables
And the circular rise of guileless angels
Say all is fine

I'll do it over again
Last time I was drunk in the Seine
Now I'm back drinking again
It was Satan, that's known
This running around without jokes
A boarded up house on the coast
And time is making me broke
You can't take me

It's time we made something stable (something)
We're in the sights of perfect danger (something)
All is lost to the time beyond fables (something)
And the circular rise of guileless angels (something)
Say all is fine, fine (something)
For the sake of time

Come on baby, it was a pleasure to know
You're so amazing

I do it all for the glow
I stand unbearably close
How could you possibly know?
I ain't taking the call (call stop please remember)
I have forsaken you all
I was mistakenly chose
Now I'm just taking my own
You can't make me

It's time we made something stable (something)
We're in the sights of perfect danger (something)
All is lost to the time beyond fables (something)
And the circular rise of guileless angels (something)
All is fine, fine (something)
For the second time

Come on baby, it was a pleasure to know
You're so amazing
Higher, higher than trails of meteors (come on my baby)
Come on baby, it was a pleasure to know
You're so amazing
Higher beyond the flames of meteors
Come on baby, it was a pleasure to know
You're so crazy
Higher, higher than tails of meteors
