

Iona, Everything Changes

Hebrews 13v8 (1st century - Israel)

Athair in gach rud
(Father in everything)

They paint it black
Then they watch it burn
So quick to hear
But slow to learn Move with the times
Or just die with the past Why does it seem That beauty doesnt last?

Everything changes in the wave
of whats being done
Everything changes in the wave
of whats being done
Everything changes

The rain looks clear til you see its stain
So much seems safe to touch
But later feel the pain
I see broken wings

Give up their flight
I see silver sands
Turned as black as night

Everything changes in the wave
of whats being done
Everything changes in the wave
of whats being done

Yesterday, today, forever the same
You are yesterday, today,
forever the same
You are yesterday, today,
forever the same
You are yesterday, today,
forever the same

Everything changes in the wave
of whats being done
Everything changes in the wave
of whats being done

Athair in gach rud
(Father in everything)