

Iron Maiden, Chains Of Misery

(Dickinson/Murray)

There's a madman in the corner of your eye
He likes to pry-into your sunlight
He whants to burst into the street with you and I
A world of shadows and of rain
He's seen what love is...
He whants to pay you back with guilt...

[Chorus:]

He lies to you he won't let you be
He's got your Chains of misery
He be still till he's turned your key
He holds your Cains of misery

There's prophet in the gutter in the street
He say "You're damned !" - and you believe him...
He's got a vision byt it shines out through your eyes
A world of hatred and fear...
He's felt what love means...
He whants to pay you back with pain

[Chorus]

It's only love that holds the key to our hearts... only love...

[Chorus 2x]
