

Jack Frost, Undying

we started against the tide we were young and time was flying we came to see that we're undying

as we sleep the moon is hiding while we drink days are crying how we tried to be undying
how we tried to be undying

[Chorus:]

cold is the rain

as we sleep the moon is hiding
while we drink days are crying
we came to be undying
we came to be undying
