

Jack Garratt, Time

why is it not enough to be fine?

you're overthinking in a rut
and terrify

of giving into who you are
and losing your mind

you wanna run till you run out of night
but why?

when time is on your side
when time is on your side

now everything you think you know
of your design

is trembling at the edges you're not alright

afraid you look onside yourself afraid you'll find that an hourglass is just a glass with sand inside

but time is on your side
time is on your side
time is on your side
time is on your side

(are you ready for
are you ready?)
when time is on your side (are you ready for
are you ready?)
time is on your side
(are you ready for
are you ready?)
when time is on your side (are you ready for
are you ready?)
time is on your side
