

Jack Greene, Don't Put Your Hurt In My Heart

Don't put your hurt in my heart stop what you're planning before you start
Yes I loved you once it's true but now I'm over you don't put your hurt in my heart
Don't put your burning in my eyes cause the burning only stops when I cry
Once my teardrops fell like rain washed away the burning flame
And it washed all your hurt from my heart
Don't put your sorry in my mind cause it's useless and you're only wasting time
I got over you before I can't chance it anymore
So don't put your hurt in my heart no don't put your hurt in my heart