

Jack Greene, We Found It In Each Other's Arms

We found it in each other's arms
My life was so confused till I found you
And you know I'm stumbled through a love or two
We needed a loving place safe from all harm we found it in each other's arms
I've known this thing of losing heart and mind
And Lord knows I've seen some trouble times
The safest place to hide is the eye of the storm we found it in each other's arms
We found it in each other's arms a love so sweet so wild and yet so warm
The safest place to hide is the eye of the storm we found it in each other's arms
We found it in each other's arms
