

Jack Greene, We'll Try A Little Bit Harder

We'll try a little bit harder to keep our love to stay together
We'll try a littler bit harder to make it through the stormy weather
And when the rains come and the wind blows and the snow falls
I'll hold you close and never let you go
We'll try a little bit harder to make our love grow a little bit stronger
We'll try a little bit harder to make our kisses last a little bit longer
And when our love's on stormy seas I'll look at and you'll look at me
And we'll know our love will always be

We'll try a little bit harder to keep the flame ember burnin' high
We'll try a little bit harder to make everything come our side
We'll try a little bit harder...
And we'll know our love will always be
