

Jack In The Pulpit, Life Goes On

I know you sleep

I know you sleep
Wondering about what I've become
And all the things I've dreamed
I've seen the way you ask yourself
"why did it have to be this way"

Your new life goes on without me
It goes on without me
Your new life goes on without me
It goes on without me

Sometimes I seem to find myself
And you remind me of who I am inside
And all the things
The things you've left unsaid
Or couldn't be
It's all okay now

Your new life goes on without me
It goes on without me
Your new life goes on without me
It goes on without me

Your new life goes on without me

It goes on without me
Your new life goes on without me
It goes on

I've said it once before
I'll say it to you now
I don't hate you at all
For years I did not know
Father's not home
But I know that you were thinking of me

Your new life goes on without me
Goes on
Your new life goes on without me
Goes on

I've said it once before
I'll say it to you now
I don't hate you at all
For years I did not know
Father's not home
But I know that you were thinking of me

Thinking of me
