Jack Jersey, She Was Dynamite

It was a cool night And the moon was bright She smiled at me and I felt allright She was dynamite That Lady of the night. How she was standing there With her long black hair Waiting for the man she wanted to care Till' the morning light That lady of the night. Well she was dynamite That lady of the night What she did what she took what she gave was heavenly Well she was dynamite She made me feel allright I said Holy smoke I never thought Such a dream could happen to me.
