Jack Russell, If Not for Love

if not for love:
don't stay you're leaving here tomorrow can't you find it inside your heart to stay? i know we've seen our fair share of sorrow the sun's going to rise for us again some day there's no use in living alone wondering if there's a reason for it all i would take the chance if it showed over and over again if not for love i'd never wait so long if not for you i wouldn't be standing here if not for love it would be a long lonely night life's a collection of magic moments love is a wonderful mystery you never know what's in store tomorrow as long as we know there's you and me so if you don't give it away there's no reason for you to keep holding on would you take the chance if it showed over and over again?
if not for love i'd never wait so long
if not for love i'd never wait so long
if not for love i'd never wait so long
if not for love it would be a long lonely night if not for love i wouldn't be standing here if not for you
if not for love it would be a long lonely night
