

Jack Russell, Paradise

holding my head up high when i feel like the waters are rising searching for what who where and why and what's it about whatever road you take just try to enjoy the ride it's not the destination it's the journey of life and you can't stop the rain from falling the sun will rise again
looking for a paradise i am looking for a paradise no guarantees of what you'll find and no way of knowing so let it come as no surprise it just don't come easy don't let your chances pass you by and don't look behind follow the dream in sight see beyond the horizon and you won't mind the rain falling
