

Jack's Broken Heart, Loved And Lost Everything

one last thing

before you go
one last piece, of my soul would it matter if i held you and told you that it was alright, one last time

i wanted to be your first love i would have settled for your last romance.
but as you walk into his arms will we ever have our last dance?

forever ends within this minute why did you choose to end it like this?

when there was so much left to say you were soft-spoken in the hardest way
endless waiting for those things, you could never say
you always knew,
how to break my day

forever ends from this minute i don't want this to end tonight it's not alright infinitely was written trying not to fold for you this one last time before you go to him

whoever said to have loved and lost is better than never loving never felt like this!

the times of our lives were not spent well and so i fell, harder than ever!

and i'll keep reminding myself to regret.