

Jackie Greene, Closer To You

You can listen to the money you can listen to your friends but if you listen to your heartbeat you might never go home again you got 1000 miles, and 10 000 more to go there's blood on the wheel and you feel like everythings outta control well maybe im just the foolish kind keepin' record of what ive left behind yet i find there aint nothing i can do im getting closer to you theres trouble down here theres trouble down there but everyday that goes by i swear its harder and harder to care i fight the good fight i do the best i can but man sometimes its impossible to stand where you think you should stand so hey mister give me something strong sometimes i feel so good and then that feelings gone but it wont be long before ill be coming through some people say never some people say now some people get together and do what some people dont allow some people like to laugh at the people who cry and my how everybody wants to go to heaven but nobodys ready to die

Now nevermind my state of mind neon signs across the borderline closing time; and i think its time i flew im getting closer to you
