

Jackie Lomax, A Dream Of You

All I have to give
I'd give it all away for just a dream of you
All I ever knew
It doesn't mean anything beside a dream of you

Without a dream, life is just a broken mirror
Without a dream of you, the way ahead don't get no clearer

We all got different ways of walking through this world
Caught by the wind, in the tide we are turned
This way and that way, his way and her way
Without a dream you can't go no way

All around this old world
It's just a desolate place, let me say, without a dream of you
I'd give it all away for just a dream of you
It doesn't mean anything without a dream of you

We all got different ways of walking through this world
Caught by the wind, in the tide we are turned
This way and that way, his way and her way
Without a dream you can't go no way
