

Jackie Lomax, How Can You Say Goodbye?

Nobody could know how much I feel for you
My love seems to grow the more I see of you
Even when you're wrong I know I'll still agree with you
How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye when I try to satisfy you?

If you need a fool I'll be a clown for you
I'll take anything you can put down for me
There won't be any need for doubting me, believe me
How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye when I try to satisfy you?

Even if I wanted to, you know I couldn't leave you
If I ever hurt you, dear, you know I wouldn't mean to

Nobody could know how much I feel for you
My love seems to grow the more I see of you
Even when you're wrong I know I'll still agree with you
How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye when I try to satisfy you?

How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye when I try to satisfy you?

How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye?
How can you say goodbye when I try to satisfy you?