

Jackie Lomax, If I Have To Cry

If I have to cry, then baby I'll cry for you
I won't ask why, though baby you'd want me to

I would do anything now, just to prove that I love you
If I have to cry, then baby I will cry for you

If I have to lie, then baby I'll lie for you
The truth I'd deny, won't say anything true.

I would deny that I love you
Even though you know that it's true
If I have to lie, then baby I will lie for you

I have resigned myself to doing what you want me to
I have declined all help, please don't leave I need you
I just have to see you

If I have to go, then baby I'll leave tonight
I want you to know, that baby it just wouldn't be right

I would leave though it hurt me
But I won't, I won't let it show
If I have to go, then baby I will go for you