

Jackopierce, Forces

When will they ever see
They turn their back on their decree
When will they ever know
That passion doesn't rest in blood and snow but i
I still believe time will always notice
I still believe time will always notice

When will they ever leave
As they tense in silent grief
Faces white, skin so pale
This land is not for sale
I still believe time will always notice
I still believe time

Let the forces run wild
Let the forces run wild
All the days don't you know
It's plain to see they
Turn their back on me
Let the forces run wild

When will they ever grow
Stole their slaves from Mexico and they Brought them up to the States
Eyes turned the other way
I still believe time will always notice
I still believe time will always

Oh my reflection
Doesn't show my direction

Let the forces run wild
Let the forces run wild
All the days don't you know
It's plain to see they
Turn their back on me
Let the forces run wild