Jackson Browne, Candy

Daughter of a woman who comes and goes Candy Daughter of a man she barely knows Candy All grown up about the things People know to do How to take a love and tear it in two No no no that isn't how it's gonna be For Candy

She wants to be in love But she doesn't know why Candy You think she's a child Look at her now My my Candy

Step by step this is her debut Looking for love that's made to stay true Step by step she' looking for more than I see Candy

Candy
You know what your love is worth
It's a good thing baby
Candy
If you're looking for a real love
It's a ghost town
Candy

Step by step this is her debut Looking for love that's made to stay true Step by step she' looking for more than I see Candy