

Jacynthe, Undecided

Every night when I laid in bed,
I can't control the voices in my head.
They're driving me crazy.

Been told one too many times
how I'm supposed to live my life.
Fed up with those telling me.

I can't be, what they want me to be 'cause I gotta find my answers.
I gotta let me be me!

Chorus:
I'm undecided, please don't tell me what to do,
(so undecided) with my life.
I don't know where I'll be tomorrow
'cause I'm still undecided, undecided... today.

If I could see into the future
then maybe I could understand why I go through, what I go through, yah yah

Maybe then I'd realize
Why life don't go the way I plan.
Don't need to fight it, it's just another lesson.

"There's a reason for everything."
That's what some people tell me,
but that doesn't help me now 'cause I'm undecided.

Chorus

Nobody really knows what's on my mind.
All I really, really need is a little time.

I'm undecided. So undecided.

I'm undecided, please don't tell me what to do,
(so undecided) with my life.
How could I know where I'll be tomorrow,
if I'm still undecided today.

I don't know where I'll be tomorrow
'cause I'm still undecided, and it's ok.
I'm still undecided, I'm gonna find my way.
I'm still undecided, undecided... today.
