

Jade Valerie, We Can Run

Spare a thought or two 'Cause I know they're heavy Keep them safe for you and I'll hold it steady Don't know what to do,
but who really does?
Just let me pull you through and let me sink down with you

No more tears now
No looking back now
No regrets and no apologies
Take my hand now
Do what I can to help you stand

We can run away
We can run away
until their faces fade to gray
We can run away
to find a better way

We can run away
We can run away
until their faces fade to gray
We can run away
'til there's nothing left to say

Waiting for the rain little desert flower Wash away the shame in my aver tower
Don't know who to blame for what you become For everything you did and everything you gave up

Doesn't matter now
No looking back now
No regrets and no apologies
Take my hand now
Do what I can to help you stand

We can run away
We can run away
until their faces fade to gray
We can run away
to find a better way

We can run away
We can run away
until their faces fade to gray
We can run away

Have you had, have you had enough?
Holding on and giving up yeah
Money talks and desperation
We, yeah,
Well I'm tired of being on my knees Tired of terrible pleas

We can run away
We can run away

We can run away
to find a better way

We can run away
We can run away

Run away
Run away
