

Jadis, Everywhere I Turn

When the daylight turns into dark Will the storm clouds bring on the rain again
Will the cold wind bite at your dried out skin
The fading leaves on the trees
start to fall
Gold is everywhere; everywhere
I turn
I will always be surprised
I will always watch and learn

Through the daylight hours
Through the rain and the showers
I turn to look to the sun
The fading leaves on the trees
start to fall
Gold is everywhere; everywhere
I turn
I will always be surprised
I will always watch and learn

I know you'll stay here forever now
(I have never been away)
And from here I see the stars
through the clouds
(stars shine through the day)
Please stop the time from flowing through my hands
Learn to live to fight to breathe

And the laeves start to fall
Gold is everywhere; everywhere
I turn

I know you'll stay here forever now
(I have never been away)
And from here I see the stars
through the clouds
(Stars shine through the day)
Please stop the time from flowing
through my hands
Learn to live to fight to breathe
